

THE MAIL MATTER.

The Washington Union quotes with approval the following extract from the Seventh Annual Message of Gen. Jackson, December 2, 1835:

It will form a good precedent for Gen. Taylor in his next Annual Message.

The evil has increased, is increasing, and must be diminished—peaceably if possible—forcibly, if inevitable. General Jackson says—

In connection with these provisions in relation to the Post Office Department, I must also invite your attention to the painful excitement produced in the South by attempts to circulate through the mails inflammatory appeals to the passions of the slaves, in print and in various sorts of publications, calculated to stimulate them to insurrection, and to produce all the horrors of a servile war.

There is, doubtless, no respectable portion of our countrymen, who can be so far misled as to feel any other sentiment than that of indignation against conduct so destructive of the harmony and peace of the country, and so repugnant to the principles of our national compact and to the dictates of humanity and religion.

Our happiness and prosperity essentially depend upon peace within our borders; peace depends upon the maintenance, in good faith, of those compromises of the constitution upon which the Union is founded.

It is fortunate for the country that the good sense, the generous feeling, and the deep-rooted attachment of the people of the non-slaveholding States to the Union, and to their fellow-citizens of the same blood in the South, have given so strong and impressive a tone to the sentiments entertained against the proceedings of the misguided persons who have engaged in these unconstitutional and wicked attempts, and especially against the emissaries from foreign ports who have dared to interfere in this matter, as to authorize the hope that those attempts will no longer be persisted in. But if these expressions of the public will shall not be sufficient to effect so desirable a result, not a doubt can be entertained that the non-slaveholding States, so far from countenancing the slightest interference with the constitutional right of the South, will be prompt to exercise their authority in suppressing, so far as in them lies, whatever is calculated to produce this evil.

In leaving the care of other branches of this interesting subject to the State authorities, to whom they properly belong, it is nevertheless proper for Congress to take such measures as will prevent the Post Office Department, which was designed to foster an amicable intercourse and correspondence between all the members of the confederacy, from being used as an instrument of an opposite character. The general government, to which the great trust is confided of preserving inviolate the relation created among the States by the constitution, is especially bound to avoid in its own action anything that may disturb them. I would therefore call the special attention of Congress to the subject, and respectfully suggest the propriety of passing such a law as will prohibit, under severe penalties, the circulation in the southern States through the mail, of incendiary publications intended to instigate the slaves to insurrection.

INCENDIARY PAPERS.—The Post Masters at Vancouven and Cherokee Heights in this District have forwarded to us several copies of these inflammatory appeals to our people, with the inquiry what is to be done with them? The Committee of Vigilance should bestir themselves and endeavor to stop these papers. The place from whence they emanate surely can be traced out, if Southern Post Masters are true to the South. If they are despoiled in Charleston, or pass through there, the officer in that place must be apprised of the fact. If in Augusta the same—all these papers that reach us come in the Augusta mail—how do they get into that mail? Are they put in at that place, or do they come from the North or West? These are important questions and the correct answer might do much in ferreting out not only the starting point, but the author.

The Post Master General surely cannot be apprised of the vast numbers of the papers that are riding the mailgrats, or he would order them stopped himself if he is honestly discharging his duties. The Department is cheated out of hundreds and thousands of dollars by the free passage of these vile papers.—Abbeville Banner.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.—The following names of the members of the Charleston Company of Volunteers, attached to the Palmetto Regiment of South Carolina, are inscribed on Medals presented by the City Council, and form the undistributed portion; the parties being absent from the city and their places of residence unknown, those interested will please leave information at this office to whom they shall be delivered, or where sent.

W. J. Oswald, Jns. T. L. Smith, Sam. W. Alexander, John Bode, Augustus G. Dukes, T. G. Carr, Corp'l. W. L. Wilkie, Corp'l. J. F. Quinn, E. S. Mowry, Wm. D. Gillison, Ephraim W. Gilbert, Stephen Purvis.

Newspapers in the interior will oblige by publishing this notice.—Courier.

ELECTRICAL APPARATUS.—Mr. Chevalier, who has paid considerable attention to electric phenomena, has brought to perfection an apparatus, which, early as the days of Franklin was suggested by some of the experimentalists, by whose means an electric shock can be conveyed at a considerable distance, even through a whole line of individuals. It is of so small a compass that it can be carried in the pocket; by means of a string thrown from it amidst a flock of sheep, twelve fell down. As the shock may be so violent as to cause instantaneous death, without the hand of the perpetrator being visible or recognizable, the discovery is rather a mischievous than a useful one.

NEW COTTON.—The Constitutionalist of the 19th inst. says: The first bale of the new crop, we understand was received at Hamburg yesterday, from the plantation of Col. Bauskert, and sold to Messrs. Dunbar & Garmany, at 11 cents. The quality is said to be good fair.

DEATH OF ALBERT GALLATIN.—He died at the advanced age of nearly ninety years.—He was a native of Geneva, Switzerland, and emigrated to this country near the close of the Revolutionary War. He was one of the founders of the Old Democratic Republican party, and signalled himself in Congress as an opponent of the Administration of Washington and John Adams. On the accession of Jefferson to the Presidency, Mr. Gallatin was made Secretary of the Treasury, and retained that office till 1813, when he vacated it to take the appointment (from President Madison) of Commissioner to negotiate a Treaty of Peace with Great Britain.

He was afterwards Minister Plenipotentiary at the British Court, under appointment from President Monroe.

This death adds another to the remarkable list of distinguished persons who have deceased within the last four months. The country has held but few as eminent either for statesmanship, financial ability, or varied learning, as Albert Gallatin.

He has been President of the New-York Historical Society, ever since the decease of Peter Augustus Jay. The Society will at its next meeting take appropriate notice of the event.

DISTURBANCE BETWEEN THE JEWS.—The Jews, or Israelites of St. Louis, have had quite a disturbance among themselves and an appeal is made to the arm of the law to settle their difficulties. They had a row in their synagogue a few days since, and an action was brought for assault and battery. The Republican says:

"As usual there are two parties—one contending for a strict observance of the form and ceremonial of Jewish worship, and absolute conformity to all the requisitions of their creed; and the other, desiring as much license as possible, both in the matter of eating prohibited meat at coffee-houses, and in keeping their stores and places of business open on Saturday. The one party are inclined to carry out the strict doctrines of their faith; the others are indifferent about this matter, and hence the strife which has arisen in the synagogue."

HORRIBLE CASE.—In the London Times of the 21, we find a voluminous report of a trial of a woman named Mary Ann Geering for depriving her husband and two sons of existence, and attempting the same crime on the person of a third son,—and all that the miserable wretch might obtain from a Death Club the few paltry shillings that remain over and above when the charges of the burial had been disbursed. A darker picture of human depravity it would be difficult to parallel. Poison was the means employed to consummate the deed, and that the only object the murderer had in view was the money accruing from the Burial Club, is abundantly proven by the evidence elicited on the trial. The jury were out only about ten minutes, when they returned with a verdict of guilty, after which the judge put on the black cap and passed sentence of death upon the prisoner, who was removed from the bar apparently very little affected at her awful position.

It is a very cruel thing to accuse an infant of temper, and by harsh sounds and cross looks commence the terrible discipline of Fear. True, in that little frame and dormant mind there may rest the seeds of stormy passions and a disposition difficult to rule, but in the first months of life, depend upon it, physical suffering is the only cause of fretfulness. It is by this demonstration alone that a babe can express fatigue, illness or discomfort. Remember how a string too tight, over much clothing, or too little may distress its fragile body; and the breath of a nurse who has eaten onions or peppermint, or any noxious food, will generally offend the delicate sense of an infant, and set it crying. Instead of reproving the little helpless creature for fretfulness, we should look upon it as a distinct intimation that something is amiss, and examine and inquire accordingly. The instincts of children, like those of animals, are infinitely less corrupted than ours; and for this reason, when infancy is past, it is very wrong to compel children to partake of food which they positively and decidedly dislike.

THE HAPPY GIRL.—Ay, she is a happy girl, we know by her fresh looks and buoyant spirits. Day in and day out she has something to do, and she takes hold of work as if she did not fear to soil her hands or dirty her apron. Such girls we love and respect wherever we find them—in a palace or a hovel. Always pleasant and always kind, they never turn up their noses before your face, or slander you behind your back. They have more good sense and better employment. What are flirts and hostile bound girls in comparison with these? Good for nothing but to look at; and that is rather disgusting. Give us the industrious and happy girl, and we care not who worships fashionable and idle simpletons.

During one of the recent engagements between the Austrians and Hungarians, near Comorn, a battle painter, named Lalleman, was killed by a cannon shot while he was taking a sketch of the fight.

With regard to the efficacy of JEW DAVID'S, or the HEBREW PLASTERS, nothing need be said, as they carry with them their own recommendation, and the price being so remarkably low, is a sufficient inducement for those afflicted to give them a trial. The agent's confidence that by the great and increasing demand for these Plasters, the popularity which they have obtained solely by their own merits, and the universal satisfaction which they have given, that they are decidedly superior to any other in use. PROSPECTUS
OF THE

Newberry Sentinel.

THE undersigned proposes to publish, in the village of Newberry, S. C. a Weekly Newspaper, to be called the "Newberry Sentinel," as soon as sufficient encouragement has been given to the enterprise.

The SENTINEL will be a political journal—a firm advocate, though not a blind adherent of the Democratic party; intended mainly, however, to impart such Political Intelligence as may be deemed worthy of the attention of the community. It will also embrace Agricultural and Educational interests, Foreign and Domestic Intelligence, Rail Road Statistics, the Markets, Science, Literature, &c. Ardently attached to the South and her institutions, it will carefully report, and fearlessly denounce every attempt, whenever and by whomsoever made, to disturb her peace or retard her prosperity. It shall not be made the medium of inflicting upon the public, unpleasant details of private grievances or personal wrongs; at the same time the calm, dignified discussion of all subjects that come properly within sphere of such a journal, having for its object the development of truth, will be freely admitted into its columns. In a word the undersigned will endeavor to make the Sentinel an acceptable visitor to the Counting-house and the Parlor, to the Politician and the Farmer, to the Mechanic and the man of leisure.

TERMS—The Sentinel will be printed upon a super royal sheet, at Two Dollars a year, in advance; or Two Dollars and Fifty Cents at the expiration of three months.
